

PRE-NUPTIAL NOTES SAID TO BE CAUSE OF FRENCH MURDER

MADAME CAILLAUX IS SAID TO HAVE FEARED THEIR PUBLICATION.

FRENCH CABINET WILL REMAIN

Will Retain Offices Despite Resignation of Minister of Finance.

(By the Associated Press)
Paris, Mch. 17.—The French cabinet today decided to retain office despite the resignation of their colleague, Minister of Finance Caillaux, whose wife yesterday killed Editor Gaston Calmette of the Figaro, and accordingly the portfolios will be reorganized.

Caillaux, who resigned, wept like a child and was guarded from the crowd by detectives. His wife is still in prison.

Assaults Vice President.
A young woman assaulted Vice President Augagneur of the Chamber of Deputies as he was about to open parliament and was arrested, but she was later released. The motive of her assault is not known but it created great excitement.

The belief is general here that Madame Caillaux attacked Calmette because he was about to publish letters she wrote to Caillaux before their marriage and while she was the wife of Leo Claretie.

Paris, March 17.—Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, was shot by Mme. Henrietta Caillaux, wife of Joseph Caillaux, the French minister of finance and former premier. He died last night.

Mme. Caillaux went to the office of Figaro to carry out an act of vengeance against M. Calmette, who had been waging a campaign characterized by great bitterness against the minister of finance.

At the moment of the attack M. Calmette was preparing to leave his office in the company of Paul Bourget, the author. He excused himself to receive Mme. Caillaux, who fired almost immediately, wounding him in the chest, side and abdomen.

While the editor was being transported to the hospital he said repeatedly: "I have done my duty. I have done my duty."

Woman Submits to Arrest.

Having committed the deed, Mme. Caillaux submitted to arrest, and while employees in the Figaro office were taking the revolver from her hands she said: "Since there is no justice in this country, I take upon myself an act of justice. Take me where you will."

"I am sorry," she said, "for what I was obliged to do. I had no intention of killing M. Calmette. I desired only to teach him a lesson."

Mme. Caillaux was formally charged with homicide.

It was officially announced that M. Caillaux had tendered his resignation from the ministry of finance, but that Premier Doumergue withheld his decision. Mme. Caillaux is the minister's third wife.

Some of Editor's Charges.

The personal campaign of Gaston Calmette against Joseph Caillaux began on January 12, and since then the attacks against the finance minister have been a daily feature of the paper. Among the various charges made M. Calmette asserted that M. Caillaux offered to pay $1,200,000 to M. Schneider, the legal representative of Marcel Prieu, who had entered claim against the government, on condition that 80 per cent of that amount should be turned over to the radical party's campaign fund for the coming elections.

M. Caillaux also was charged with authorizing the quotation on the bourse of questionable foreign loans, whereby vast sums were lost by French investors.

M. Caillaux contented himself with issuing categorical denials.

But on March 13 the Figaro printed a facsimile of a letter from M. Caillaux to an intimate friend, dated "The Senate, July 16, 1901," at the time Caillaux was minister of finance in the Waldeck-Rousseau cabinet, in which he said he had been successful in crushing the income tax, although seemingly he was defending the tax. Much mystery is attached to the letter. Mme. Caillaux affirms that the letter was addressed to her and that she learned that M. Calmette intended to publish several other letters of an even more intimate character.

BOARD WILL MEET.

A special meeting of the board of supervisors will be held Wednesday, March 25, at 1 p. m. to act on the petition of the S. D. & E. for a franchise to construct their extension from the north city limits to the site of the epileptic colony.

PARDON ASKED FOR UNION DYNAMITERS

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE RECEIVED PETITION THIS MORNING.

(By the Associated Press)

Washington, D. C., Mch. 17.—The application for pardons for Frank M. Ryan and other leaders of Bridge & Structural Iron Workers' union, who were convicted in the dynamite cases at Indianapolis, were filed with the department of justice today by Attorney Zoline of Chicago.

In his petition to the department he alleges that the men are innocent and that Judge Anderson, the federal judge who presided at the trials did not give them a fair and impartial trial. Zoline announced that 20 members of the house and several senators will appear before the department of justice of President Wilson in behalf of the convicted men.

CASUALTY COMPANIES SUED BY STEDMAN

ASKS EACH OF THREE CONCERNS FOR $5,000 FOR LOSS OF HIS HAND.

Through Attorneys Stager & Stager and J. J. Ludens of Sterling, Wm. F. Stedman of Stone Station has started suits in the Lee county circuit court against three accident insurance companies in which he carried policies, and from which he seeks to recover for the loss of a hand while hunting last fall. It will be remembered that through the accidental discharge of his shot gun Mr. Stedman's right hand was blown off at the wrist. His suits are each for $5,000 damages and are directed against the following companies: United States Health & Accident Ins. Co., Saginaw, Mich. Fidelity & Casualty Co., of New York. Standard Accident Ins. Co., of Detroit, Mich.

DERAILMENT WAS DISCOVERED IN TIME

TO PREVENT SERIOUS ACCIDENT ON I. C. EARLY THIS MORNING.

The derailment of a freight car in a southbound train near the North Dixon Illinois Central passenger station at about 1:30 o'clock this morning delayed traffic on the line for over an hour, and but for the prompt discovery by the train crew of the derailment of one truck of the car a serious accident might have resulted.

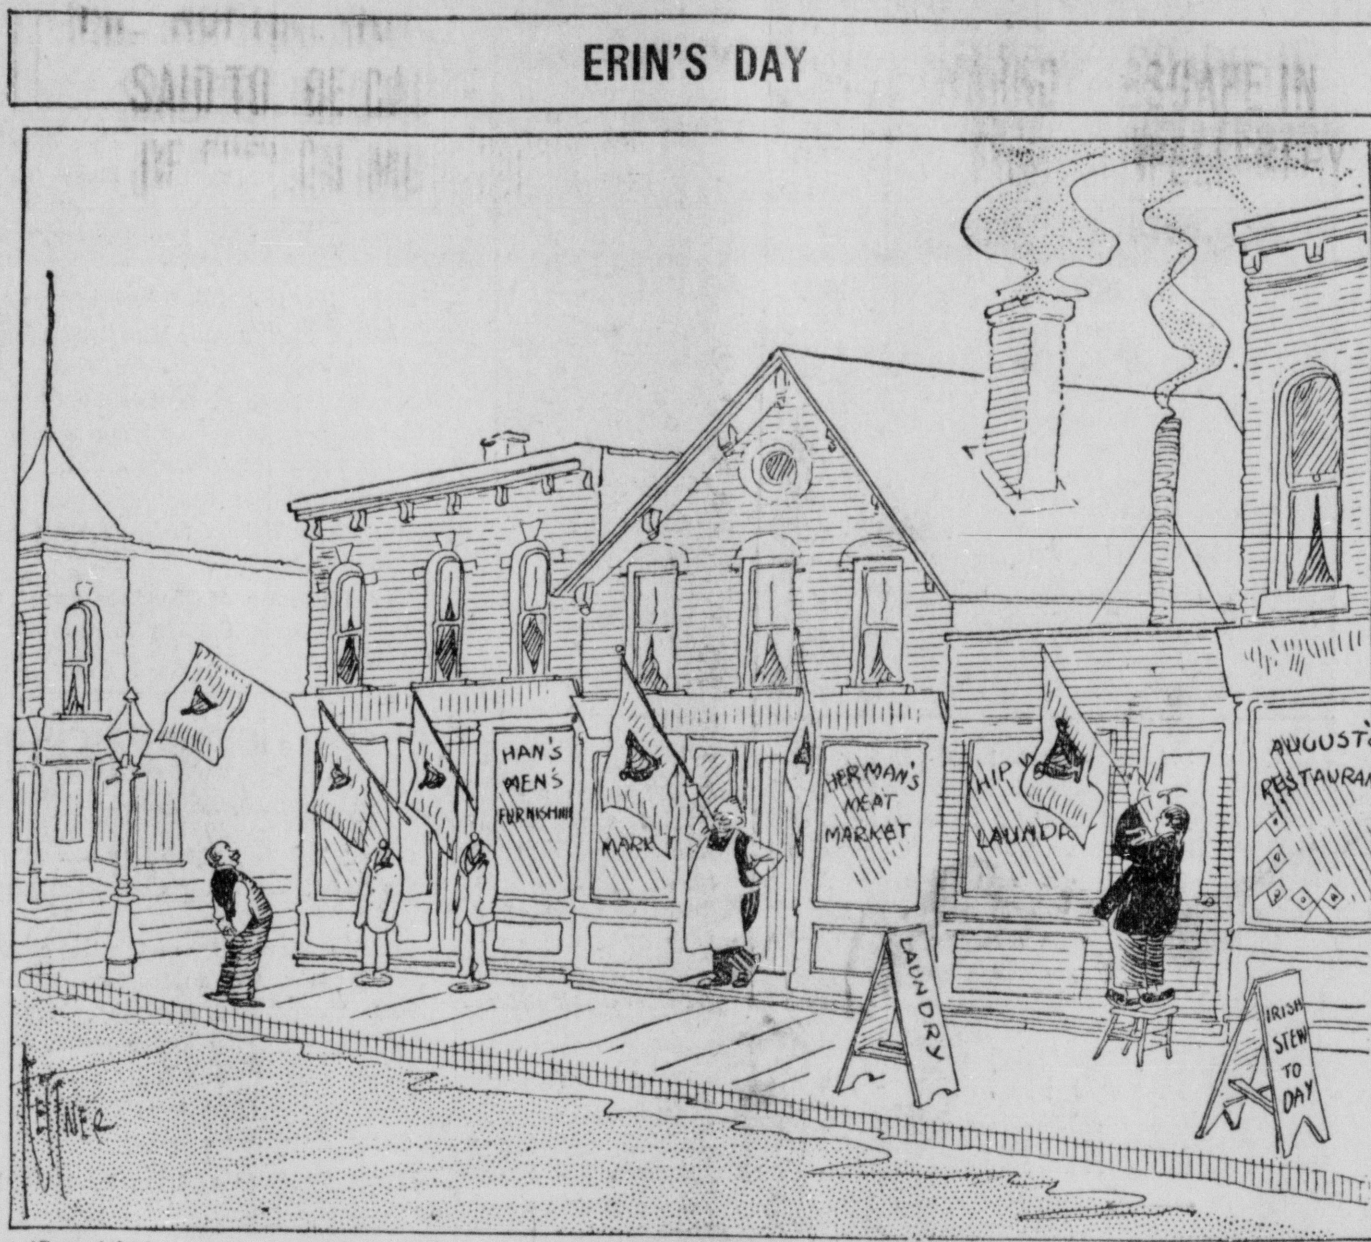

The front truck of the car had run a considerable distance before it was discovered and had the train proceeded to the viaduct over Fellows street and the bridge across the river a critical accident might have been the outcome.

MERRIAM CANNOT SPEAK HERE

Alderman Chas. E. Merriam of Chicago has written the local I. Y. M. C. A. that it will be impossible for him to come here to address the club soon, but will gladly honor the invitation later.

WATER COLORS.

Jos. Reuland has on exhibition in the window of Campbell's drug store some very handsome water-color landscapes, which are his handiwork. Many of the scenes are local and as such have an especial interest, while the work in all is very clever.

MANY ENJOYED DR. PLATTENBERG LECTURE

"THE MAN ABOVE THE MOB" A HIGHLY INSTRUCTIVE DISSERTATION.

A large audience, every member of which was greatly pleased with the entertainment, attended the lecture given at the opera house last evening by Dr. Charles Howard Plattenberg. His subject, "The Man Above the Mob," was a comprehensive one, and the lecturer kept his hearers intensely interested until he had completed, the address being highly instructive. Dr. Plattenberg is one of the most able orators heard here in some time. His address was the closing number of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course.

FROM THE STOCKADE OF ANDERSONVILLE

GEO. C. LOVELAND WILL PRESENT G. A. R. WITH A RELIC FROM REBEL PRISON.

George C. Loveland has in his possession a very interesting relic of the civil war which he announces he will present to the ladies' G. A. R. post. It is a piece of wood torn from the inner stockade of that terrible and disgraceful Confederate prison, Andersonville. Mr. Loveland secured the bit of wood, which is about 14 inches long, from the stockade himself and has had a plate made, bearing his name and affixed to the wood and it will be hung on the wall of the G. A. R. room with a brass chain.

ARMED KIDNAPPERS STOLE CHICAGO GIRL

AT POINT OF REVOLVERS FORCED HER TO ACCOMPANY THEM TODAY.

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Mch. 17.—Six armed men early today went to a north side hotel, knocked down the proprietor and at the point of revolvers forced Miss Margaret Miller, aged 24, to dress and accompany them. The proprietor states that one of the kidnapers had been visiting the girl frequently.

DAUGHTER BORN

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Witzleb of W. Ninth street this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. McCarthy went to Freeport this morning for a short visit.

WILL STUDY SHOE FITTING IN CHICAGO

HENRY BRISCOE WILL TAKE A THOROUGH COURSE IN ORTHOPEDIC.

Henry Briscoe of Henry Lebowich's exclusive shoe store, has gone to Chicago, where he will take a course of instruction in Scholl's Orthopedic Institute, after which he will return to take charge of proper fitting of shoes in the Dixon store. Mr. Lebowich realizes that the time has come when the fitting of shoes is a science and needs a thorough understanding of all foot ailments, the cause and cure, has undertaken this expensive experiment for the benefit of his patrons.

Mr. Briscoe will spend all his time in the school, taking a thorough course, and his evenings will be given over to lectures by eminent foot specialists. It is an acknowledged fact that thousands of feet are injured by misfitting shoes, and the object of Mr. Briscoe's course is to obtain a thorough knowledge of how to properly fit all shoes and to correct defects caused by improper fitting. This new movement by Mr. Lebowich is in line with similar action on the part of the larger shoe stores of the country and means much to the patrons of the store. Mr. Briscoe will be home every Saturday during his course of instruction to assist in the Saturday trade at the store.

EIGHT PUPILS TOOK NACHUSA CENTRAL

CLASS IS ONE OF SPEEDY WRITERS, SAYS THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.

Eight pupils of the rural schools in the vicinity of Nachusa took the central examination held there Monday and County Superintendent Miller reports that they are one of the speediest classes of writers he ever tested. The following are the pupils who took the quiz:

Teacher, Miss Lida Norris; Shirley M. Morris, Ray F. Currens.

Teacher, Miss Pearl Feldkirchner; Edgar Hoff, John Weigle, Holman Hoff, Gladys Emmert, Cathern Hoff and Jessie Atkins.

County Superintendent Miller and Misses Norris and Feldkirchner were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Weigle.

ILLINOISIAN HEADS COMMISSION

(By the Associated Press)

Washington, D. C., Mch. 17.—Commissioner Harlan of Illinois was today elected chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

BOSLEY WAS STRUCK BY SIDE OF VIADUCT

COMPANION, WALTER COAKLEY, ARRIVED HOME YESTERDAY AND TELLS STORY.

Walter Coakley, who was with Harold (Bud) Bosley when he was hurt in Chicago Saturday night, returned home last evening, a badly frightened boy, and doubtless cured of his "wanderlust." He states that the reports which reach Dixon to the effect that Bosley had been hit by another train are erroneous; his story of the accident being that in alighting from the train Bosley was struck by a viaduct. The injured lad will not be brought home for several days.

RENEW ACTIVITY AT THE PLOW SHOPS

REFINANCING OF RUMELY CO. MEANS MUCH TO THE LOCAL WORKS.

Word comes from New York that the M. Rumely Co. has been refinanced on a permanent foundation. This company and the Avery company of Peoria are large consumers of the product of the Grand Detour Plow Co. of this city and the refinancing above mentioned therefore means renewed activity at the local plant. In this connection it is of moment to note that President W. B. Brinton of the Grand Detour Plow Co. had been named one of a committee of four to act as finance committee of the Avery company.

AMBOY YOUNG LADY HAS PASSED AWAY

FLORENCE KRENZ SUCCEUMBED TO TUBERCULOSIS MONDAY.

Amboy, Mch. 17.—Special—The many friends of Miss Florence Krenz of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Krenz, are today mourning her death, the Grim Reaper taking the young life last night at 11:15 o'clock at the home of her parents.

Miss Krenz, who was 20 years, 4 months and 5 days of age, has been a sufferer for two years with tuberculosis and through it all was a patient sufferer, her sunny nature and happy disposition overcoming her illness to such an extent that she was a blessing to all with whom she came in contact.

The remains will be taken to Henry, Ill., tomorrow and the funeral will be held there Thursday afternoon.

SAYS TOLL REPEAL IS UNPATRIOTIC

FORMER SENATOR FORAKER AT TACKS ADMINISTRATION POLICY TODAY.

CITIES VIEW OF GERMANY

German Representative Wonder How English Like Trade for Benton's Life.

(By Associated Press)

Cleveland, O., Mch. 17.—Speaking against the proposed bill to repeal the act granting exemption from the Panama tolls to American coastwise shipping, former Senator Joseph B. Foraker, in a talk before the Chamber of Commerce here, went into an exhaustive review of all the diplomatic acts and numerous comments thereon which concerned the Panama canal since the original Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

The greater part of his address was devoted to the existing Hay-Fauncefote treaty and he contended that nothing prohibited congress from exempting American coastwise shipping from the canal tolls. He said in part:

"If we cannot favor our coastwise shipping, with which no foreign ship can compete, of course no such favor can be allowed to our ships engaged in foreign trade, and as a result no advantage arises to our shipping of any class out of this great rational work, the erection of the Panama canal."

"On the other hand, the exercise of this right to show favor to our own ships in the use of our own property would go far toward obviating the necessity of resorting to subsidies against which there is so much prejudice."

The German View.

Senator Foraker said that Count Von Reventlow, a distinguished German, is reported as saying to the daily press concerning President Wilson's message to congress: "The conclusion seems well grounded that the attitude of the British government concerning Benton's murder, and Wilson's announcement, stand in the relation of cause and effect. It will be interesting to see how public opinion in England likes the idea of getting the tolls paragraph removed in exchange for a murdered Englishman."

"If such an opinion as this obtains everywhere," concluded Senator Foraker, "or to any considerable extent with everybody outside the United States, then surely if we are to be governed by foreign opinion at all, the congress should not do what is proposed, but should indignantly refuse to become a party to such a transaction, and if there be no basis for such a charge, then the president owes it to himself and to the whole American people to make a disclosure of the facts to exonerate himself and this great nation from the charges of participating in such an unworthy and unpatriotic performance."

CONVICTS ASSISTED IN SAVING PROPERTY

CARRIED FURNITURE FROM THE BURNING HOME OF FORMER DIXONITE NOW IN SOUTH.

Mrs. C. H. Gray today received a letter from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Webb of Kushla, Ala., former Dixon residents, in which they describe the destruction of their home by fire recently. Mr. Webb was seated by the window reading when he heard loud talking among a band of convicts employed in road building outside, and on going to the door he learned that his house was on fire.

He immediately started upstairs, but was beaten back by the flames, the entire upper part of the house being on fire. The guards took the chains off many of the prisoners and they succeeded in carrying out most of the furnishings of the lower floor. Mr. Webb writes that he had $500 insurance.

TAKEN HOME.

Mrs. Zander, nee Miss Maude Reynolds, was Monday removed from the hospital to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds.

GIRL STUDENTS HAD NARROW ESCAPE IN FIRE AT WELLESLEY

COLLEGE HALL, LARGEST BUILDING OF GROUP, DESTROYED TODAY.

GIRLS BEHAVED SUPERBLY

Coolness Prevented Horrible Death or Injury of Many of the Occupants.

(Associated Press)

Wellesley, Mass., Mch. 17.—Two hundred and fifty Wellesley students and a hundred others, including the faculty and servants, had to flee for their lives early today when fire destroyed College hall, the largest and most pretentious of the college group. Fortunately all the young ladies escaped without injury.

The property loss, which included practically all of the personal possessions of the occupants of the building, will amount to over $1,500,000, and the burning of the hall has caused a temporary suspension of the college sessions. The girls will be sent home in special trains, to remain until after the structure is rebuilt.

Girls Were Heroines.

The superb behavior of the young women probably prevented heavy loss of life or injury to the many who groped their way through the smoke filled halls and down the fire escapes and stairways to safety.

The heroines of the fire were Mrs. Charlotte Donnell of Maine and Miss Virginia Moffatt of New Jersey. They were first to discover the fire and went along the halls arousing the other young ladies by pounding on the doors of their rooms. They did not yell "fire" but commanded the girls to "put on your wraps quickly." The halls were filled with smoke but the girls walked out safely.

The college officials say that the girls' fire brigade deserve all credit for the escape of those in the building. The brigade, under the leadership of Muriel Arthur of Detroit, rounded up the girls. The school will be closed until April 7.

MURDERED AT OMAHA.

Jack Williams of Stockton, proprietor of a livery stable there, was murdered at South Omaha, Neb., on Sunday night where he had gone to buy horses. His body was found lying in a roadway by a policeman, his throat having been cut until the head was almost severed from the body. Robbery was undoubtedly the motive and the authorities believe the murder was committed by negro thugs.

FREEPORT LOST.

The Freeport high school basketball team lost the state championship by dropping the final game Saturday to Decatur, 42 to 19. The boys from this section of the state fought gamely, though, and were the final contenders with Decatur in the elimination contests.

Y. M. C. A. GAME ROOM.

The new game room at the Y. M. C. A. which was provided by moving the reading room back to the former directors' room, has been equipped with a large number of table games, and is proving a popular feature of the association.

BURIED UNDER ALTAR.

In the primaries held in Sterling Saturday for nominations for circuit clerk the republicans ran first, democrats second and progressives a poor third in total number of votes cast.

GALE SWEEPS EUROPE

Much Damage in British Isles and Along French Coast.

Storms Block Seaboard Traffic and Telegraph; Russian Towns Report Losses—Rivers Out of Banks.

London, March 17.—Gales of hurricane force, snowstorms, rain squalls, floods and terrific seas were reported from all parts of the British Isles, causing great damage. The wind reached a velocity of 70 miles an hour. Many vessels were driven ashore. A tug foundered in the Thames with the loss of five lives.

The big Dutch steamer Noodwijk is disabled off the Isle of Wight.

Tokio, March 17.—Eighty-three persons, says the official estimate, were killed by the earthquake in the prefecture of Akita, Island of Honshu. Witnesses declare that entire families were crushed to death while in flight.

St. Petersburg, March 17.—Official dispatches from the Province of Stavropol, adjoining the Province of Kuban on the east, report damages of several million dollars as a result of the hurricane that destroyed villages on the Sea of Azov. The floods were followed by fire. Hundreds of houses in various villages were burned and many persons perished.

The latest estimate of the total loss of life is 1,200. Dispatches say the storm is raging between Ekaterinburg and Viatka and is moving northward.

Great destruction was wrought at the mouth of the River Don. Numerous lives were lost. Many fishermen are missing.

A violent snowstorm raged for two days in the Batum district.

"T. R." BAGS MUCH GAME

Letter From Colonel Tells of Specimens Obtained for Museum.

New York, March 17.—From the interior of central Brazil news was received from the Roosevelt expedition by President Henry Fairfield Osborn of the American Museum of Natural History. In a letter to President Osborn Colonel Roosevelt stated that the expedition had begun well and that already the party had collected more than one thousand specimens of birds and mammals for the museum. Colonel Roosevelt himself and Kermit Roosevelt, his son, according to the letter, had been successful in capturing fine specimens of large game, including jaguars, giant ant bears, the peccary and the swamp deer.

2 ESCAPE FROM U. S. PRISON

Convicts Flee Leavenworth on Carpet Rope.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 17.—Lloyd Blitzbarger and Bert Adams, two convicts, made a sensational escape from the federal prison here. The men broke the lock of their cell door, broke into the prison chapel, made a rope of the chapel carpet and lowered themselves 40 feet from the chapel upper window to the busiest thoroughfare of the military post. They are thought to have swam the Missouri river. Blitzbarger had been sentenced 59 times by court-martial. Adams was serving a term for desertion and assault.

President Satisfied With Explanation of Ambassador's Remarks.

Washington, March 17.—President Wilson exonerated Ambassador Walter Hines Page, the United States envoy to the court of St. James, and held that Page's address on the Monroe doctrine was without a single phrase at which this government might take offense. The president believes that the speech was misquoted and misrepresented.

Missing Man's Body Found.

Burlington, Ia., March 17.—The body of John H. Janke of Gerrard, Ill., was found floating in the river here. The remains were identified by papers found on the body. Janke disappeared November 24, 1913. He was a member of the Eagles lodge of Moline, Ill.

PLEAD FOR CONDEMNED MAN

Pastors Seek to Prevent Hanging of Georgian.

Atlanta, Ga., March 16.—A sentiment which promises to sweep the whole country is forming itself in this city to prevent the hanging on April 17 of Leo M. Frank for the alleged murder of a young girl named Mary Phagan.

Such an execution, say the man's sympathizers, will be equivalent to judicial murder. Demand for a new trial was voiced by several Atlanta ministers in their sermons. All said they did not believe he had had a fair trial.

Arkansas Seeks Relief.

Washington, March 17.—The state of Arkansas requested the Supreme court of the United States to appoint a commission to settle the boundary dispute between Arkansas and Tennessee arising from the fact that an earthquake had eliminated a crotch in the Mississippi river known as the Devil's Elbow, and thus deprived Arkansas of 20,000 acres of valuable land.

SECOND MRS. VANDERVELT

By A. H. LAIDLAW.

"Mrs. Vandervelt will be down in a few moments, sir," the servant said, as she ushered the visitor into the drawing room.

Vandervelt gazed about the room and his eyes rested on a photograph lying on the table. It was the portrait of his divorced wife—the woman who "would be down in a few moments."

"A picture of her," he muttered, with a wistful, but hopeless look in his eyes. He still loved her—yes, loved her more than ever before—but he knew now that this folly had built a barrier between them that could never be torn asunder.

"A picture of her—just as she looked when I last saw her; at least, just as she would have looked had she been happy. How she must hate me now. God knows, I deserve the hate."

The man who had once been strong and brave and reckless dropped into an armchair beside the table and buried his face in his hands. Mrs. Vandervelt entered and looked upon the picture of despair. She stepped lightly, and so deeply engrossed was he in his bitter thoughts that Vandervelt did not hear her as she approached.

"Allen," she said, softly, her voice quivering, as she put her hand on his head and stroked his hair.

Vandervelt started violently. He was frightened, so suddenly was he awakened from his meditation, and bounded from the chair as he would have leaped from a railway track to escape death beneath the wheels of an approaching train.

"Allen," she finally said again in a voice tremulous with emotion, "you—come back to me."

"Ask your forgiveness," he supplied, "to stay?" she finished.

"To ask your forgiveness," he repeated. He took a step forward, looked up at her and burst forth passionately:

"Margaret, I want you to listen to my confession. God, how wrong I've been."

She put up her hand and shook her head and she stopped.

"Don't," she said. "Please don't tell me. Let me spare you that—and myself. I could not listen to any confession. I forgive you without the confession. I know you did not love that other woman. You did not love her—did you, Allen?"

Vandervelt replied brokenly and remorsefully:

"No. I did not love her. It was merely infatuation—a false infatuation. I never loved any woman but you."

"I knew it. I knew it," she continued. "I knew you would come back—and everything would be all right. We can begin over again and we can be so happy, for I love you so—I love you so—"

A light of happiness had sprung into her eyes as she spoke, and she rushed toward him and put her arms about his neck.

"Allen, I forgive you," and she kissed him. He could not respond and he could not resist. He was powerless and stood motionless, almost limp, with eyes cast toward the floor.

His attitude produced a frightened light in her eyes, and she drew away from him as she released him.

"Oh, I had forgotten the divorce," she said. "I had forgotten the divorce. We are not husband and wife. What folly that divorce was."

Then the look of fright disappeared and she almost laughed as she continued:

"But after all, that need not be a barrier, Allen. We can be lovers again, and you can ask me to marry you as you did that beautiful afternoon in the rose garden—at father's and mother's—that sweet, beautiful afternoon. And I can say 'Yes,' and then—and then—Oh, Allen, we can bury the past. Can't we, Allen, dear?"

She had put her arms about his neck again and spoke with passionate appeal.

Vandervelt broke away from her and broke into a sob as he bitterly exclaimed, pacing the floor:

"Why did I ever come back? I have returned only to torture you. I might have known—you could not know."

"What do you mean?" The look of fright again appeared in her eyes and again she brushed her hand across her face. "Can't everything be all right again?"

"It can never be," he continued bitterly. "It can never be. I am a married man. Oh, why did I ever do it?"

"She gave a startled cry and tottered as both hands went to her head. She would have fallen had he not caught her and assisted her to the arm chair.

"Then—you—married—her?" Her lips quivered violently. "She—is—your—wife and is—living?"

"Yes."

"And you—didn't—come—back to—stay?"

"No. I came for your forgiveness. I had to have it. I couldn't live any longer without it—and I thought I might get to see the boy."

"You—you have—my—forgiveness—now leave me—please."

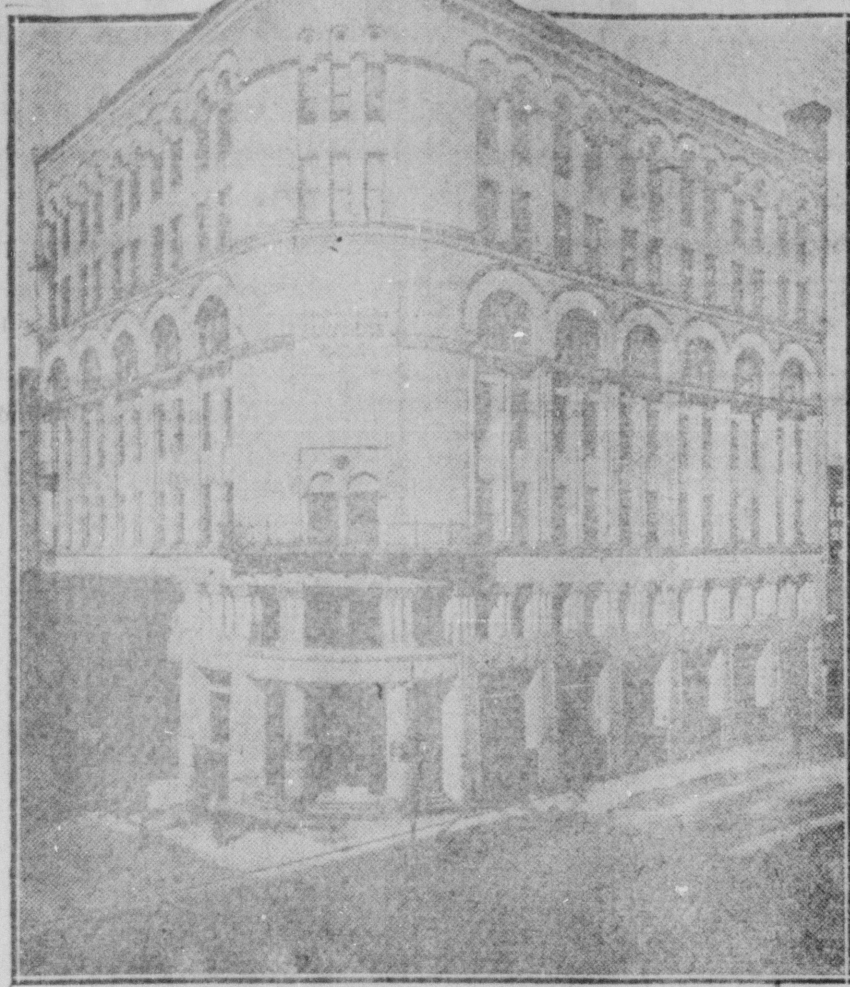

Vandervelt left the house silently, filled with the mental anguish and remorse he had hoped would be partly obliterated by her forgiveness.

Ample Proof.

"I suppose you consider your vacation a success?"

"Sure. I got a coat of tan, was double-crossed by a fair female and spent all my money."

MISSOURI ATHLETIC CLUB, IN THE BURNING OF WHICH MANY WELL-KNOWN MEN LOST THEIR LIVES

The Missouri Athletic club building in St. Louis burned with many prominent men, who lost their lives after the fire started the roof fell in carrying all through the wreckage. Later the walls caved in and then it was seen there was little chance of getting anyone out alive.

DIES IN ODD RAIL WRECK

Woman Loses Life and Thirty Are Injured.

St. Paul, March 16.—A woman was killed and more than thirty other persons were injured in the derailment of two coaches of passenger train No. 4 on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad. Both cars rolled down an embankment at Mendota.

After passing the station at Mendota two coaches in the middle of the train broke loose and toppled over. One of them stood almost upright, throwing the passengers into one end of the coach. A relief corps was formed and the injured passengers were lifted through windows and doors. Many were cut by broken glass.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP" OF FIGS

Made From Fruit — Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign that the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or ate naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you will have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless fruit laxative. Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

Mrs. Haefner's Birthday

Mrs. Sarah Haefner of Sterling is celebrating her 92nd birthday anniversary today and all her friends are remembering her. Mrs. Haefner has been a resident of Sterling since 1851.

Miss Kate O'Connor

Miss Kate O'Connor of Rockford, Ill., who is so well known throughout club circles of the state and the National Federation of Women's Clubs, has recently opened a business office, in the Stock Exchange Building of Chicago. She is going to handle real estate and property affairs for women. Miss O'Connor is a strong believer in fresh air and has already incorporated an organization to promulgate the gospel of the fresh air idea. She is known among friends as "Fresh Air Kate."

Thursday Evening Dance.

The regular Thursday evening dance will be given at the Armory this week by Everybody's club, and judging from the reports of dancers the attendance will be larger than at any time since the parties have been started. The floor in the new hall is working into fine condition and will be in excellent shape by Thursday evening, while music will be furnished by the Marquette orchestra of seven pieces.

A Correction.

Through a misunderstanding of names over the phone it was stated last evening that Mrs. Frank Downing was one of those awarded favors at cards at the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Henry. The name should have been Mrs. Frank Amberg.

Dance Tonight.

The St. Patrick's day dance, to be given this evening at Rosbrook hall by St. Patrick's Catholic church will mark the celebration of the day in Dixon, and doubtless a large crowd will attend. Dance tickets good for the entire evening will be on sale at the door, and music will be furnished by the Marquette orchestra.

Gave Banquet.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Lutheran church entertained Friday evening with a banquet to members of the choir, their wives and husbands and the members of the church council and their wives.

The banquet room was artistically done in blue and gold and yellow candles illuminated the tables.

At 6:30 the banquet of the following appetizing menu was served:

Bouillon
Roast Loin of Pork Mashed Potatoes
Peas
Parker House Rolls
Coffee
Fruit Salad
Ice Cream
Mints
Wafers
Cake

Mrs. Goodsell, acting as toastmistress, called upon different ones for toasts. Those responding were E. T. Bailey, George McWethy, L. W. New comer, Owen Clymer and Dr. F. D. Altman. Miss Ruth Altman favored with a piano selection and Miss Hiller gave four short readings, among them "The Up-to-Date Girl" and "The Land of Beginning Again." Miss Irene Eichenberg rendered a very pleasing vocal solo and Misses Marjorie Slothower and Ellen Myers favored with a vocal duet.

WIGS AND GOGGLES TO MATCH SEEN IN PARIS

Paris, home of fashion, has put over another, which may or may not be copied in London and New York. Following the adoption of colored wigs by many women of society, and their imitators, comes the use of goggles to match. Here is a Parisian lady with purple hair and goggles of the same hue.

She wears the latest spring fashion in gowns also, but when she went along the streets of the city it was not her gown that attracted attention. The purple wig and glasses won her attention along her route.

A fashion expert said that the fashion might be adopted in a modified form in the United States. It was possible that those women who wore brown wigs might use brown goggles. That is, the more sober colors in wigs and glasses, might become common in social affairs.

Moose Election.

Tomorrow evening the Loyal Order of Moose will meet to nominate and elect officers for the ensuing year and every member is asked to attend the meeting to see that good officers who will attend every meeting are elected.

Stjerner Club.

Miss Clara Hasselberg delightfully entertained the members of the Stjerner club last evening at her home, and delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Forrest Small, nee Miss Arlette Thompson, of Great Falls, Mont., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Shellie Thompson of this city.

Miss Gertrude Wold, who has been visiting in Chicago and other points during her vacation, has returned and assumed her position in the alteration department of the Bee Hive.

Married 99 Years.

Married 99 years, 99 years is the sum total of married years celebrated by five couples today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Mason, 227 West Chamberlain street, today. The names of the couples are Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Swartz, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beede, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mensch and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beede.

At noon a delicious scramble dinner was served. The decorations were very beautiful and appropriate to the day, being of green. The centerpiece on the table was of malacra and shamrock and was very beautiful and favors and place cards were shamrocks and small white hats and white clay pipes.

Three of the couples were married in the month of March and two in February.

After a very delightful afternoon the company dispersed with memories of a happy day.

WHEN YOU'RE SICK YOUR WAGES STOP

You know what that means—misery—worry—big bills—debt!

You know you can't afford to get sick. Keeping in good health means food and clothing for you and your family. It is up to you to take care of yourself. It is up to you whenever you don't feel right, to strengthen you, build you up, ward off worse sickness—protect you and your family. That thing we have in Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. In offering it to you, we protect you against money-risk, by personally promising you that, if it does not restore your health, we will give back your money without word or question. We believe it is the best builder of health, energy and strength you can get. It is helping many of your neighbors. If it don't help you we will give back your money.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is composed principally of pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites. Each has long been endorsed by successful physicians. Here they are for the first time combined. The result is a remarkable, nerve, blood and strength building remedy that is both food and medicine. For all who are nervous, run-down and debilitated—no matter what the cause; for old people; for convalescents; for puny children, we know of nothing that will give health and strength as quickly as Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. It is a real builder of good blood, strong muscles, good digestion. Pleasant to take, it contains no alcohol or habit forming drugs. If you don't feel well economize both money and strength by beginning today to take Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. Sold only at the Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00, Campbell & Son, 105 First St.

PALMYRA DANCE.

To the Editor:
I have read in the social column of the issue of the Evening Telegraph of March 16, that a dancing party, to which the public is invited, will be given at the Gap Grove, or Palmyra, town hall Wednesday evening, the 18th of March. By virtue of the office of Town Clerk of the Town of Palmyra I have been custodian of the Palmyra town hall for 20 years, and during that period have not leased the town hall for a dancing party to which the public should be invited.

To those interested, I give notice that the Palmyra town hall will not be opened for a dancing party, public or private, on Wednesday evening, March 18.

(Signed) HORACE M. GILBERT,
Clerk, Town of Palmyra.

OUT MAKING SPEECHES.

A man and a suffragette's husband, walking along one of our streets the other day, stopped to look in the window of a second-hand furniture store. Seeing an old-fashioned framed motto, the other man read it aloud: What is Home Without a Mother.

"My family is most of the time," quickly responded the suffragette's husband.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" ENDS STOMACH MISERY, INDIGESTION IN 5 MINUTES.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.

MURDER AT TECATE ROUSES COAST MEN

Martial Law Declared Along California Line After Slaying of Postmaster.

ANOTHER AMERICAN IS SLAIN

Mexicans Kill Oscar Allen of Texas—Head Found Split Open With an Ax—Rebels Lose 500 Men and Are Routed.

San Diego, Cal., March 17.—Although no proclamation was issued, martial law prevails along the border for miles each side of Tecate following the burning of the United States postoffice and customs office there and the murder of Postmaster Frank Johnston. Three Mexicans committed the double crime. The California border was patrolled by American troops from Fort Rosecrans. Across the line Mexican rurales performed guard duty. Governor Johnson was asked to make a formal demand on Gov. Francisco Vasquez of Lower California for the delivery of the Mexicans suspected of killing Postmaster Johnston.

Anti-Mexican feeling was aroused to fever heat in the vicinity of Tecate, which is in California. Every man within a radius of ten miles of Tecate was armed and rifles and ammunition were ordered from this city.

Leaves Killing to Courts. Washington, March 17.—Members of a Mexican railroad construction gang killed Postmaster Johnson and burned the postoffice at Tecate, Cal., says a report received by the war department from army headquarters at San Francisco. None of the men had been apprehended when the report was forwarded. Department officials announced that the affair would be handled in the ordinary way.

Another American Slain. Juarez, March 17.—Oscar Allen, an American, has been murdered by Mexicans at Pearson, Chihuahua. His head was split with an ax. This was reported to Consul Thomas Edwards, who at once began an investigation.

Allen was a Texan, native of Corpus Christi, Nueces county, where his father served as sheriff. He had been a watchman for the Madera company. A widow and several children reside in Pearson.

Another watchman of this company was killed previously in a similar manner. Rebels Defeated and Lose 500 Men. Laredo, Texas, March 17.—Defeat of a column of Mexican rebel troops at Bustamante canyon was reported in official advices received at federal headquarters in Nuevo Laredo. The dispatch says the rebel loss in killed, captured and wounded was 500 men. Bustamante canyon is about midway between Laredo and Monterey. It is believed the rebels were on the way to join in attack on the latter city. In their fight the constitutionalists were said to have left large quantities of arms and ammunition.

Bryan Demands Reparation. Nogales, Mexico, March 17.—Raids, confiscation and destruction of property by General Buena, in command of a flying column of constitutionalists in Sonora, have brought a protest from the Spanish government. Spaniards have been the sufferers by Buena's conduct. Secretary Bryan has telegraphed consular officials in northern Mexico to intercept Carranza and inform him that reparation for Buena's conduct must be made.

Villa Orders Aeroplane. Chihuahua, Mex., March 17.—General Villa telegraphed to Captain Salinas, the rebel aviator, whose monoplane has been undergoing repairs at Juarez, to have his machine at Chihuahua within the next twenty-four hours.

This is taken by rebel officials at Juarez to indicate that General Villa is anxious to begin his attack on the federal intrenchments at Torreon. Villa denies he seeks the presidency.

POLITENESS PAYS.

Perhaps we are too apt to regard politeness as a mere veneer. The pleasant smile, the spirit of helpfulness, the ready sacrifice are not of the exterior alone. A good manner, like the good nature that is a part of it, is not a thing to be thrown on and off with a dress coat. It is of the man as the aroma is of the rose. The polite man is at a tremendous advantage. He can win favor and fortune under circumstances where a loose-mannered and slovenly-spirited man is left to grumble in failure. It is not altogether because of his politeness. It is chiefly because of the sterling character that lies back of it and gives it birth. Politeness is good capital in any business. A Cleveland street car conductor has proved it so, and so has every other man who ever made good manners a part of his equipment.

This conductor gave a little better service than he was supposed to be paid for. He was careful of the comfort and safety of the children, the ladies, the old men and the cripples who rode on his car. He met querulous complaints with pleasant smiles and kindly words. He collected no more fares for the company than any other conductor. He was no more efficient and faithful in other respects perhaps than hundreds of his fellows. But somehow, that one advantage was sufficient. In his kindness to his passengers he was unconsciously kind to himself. He came to be selected for special runs where courtesy was of special importance. And now he has been made a dispatcher.

He has won his way to a good place by his politeness, just as millions of other men have done in other lines before him and as millions more will do in time to come. Politeness pays. It attracts friends and good fortune. It is a well-spring of well wishes. It creates about a man an atmosphere in which "luck" loves to linger.

Most of us seem to think the world owes us much and that we owe the world nothing. We seem to be on our guard against giving any more service than we are actually paid for. Even our smiles we reserve unless we see chance to coin them into ready cash. We go through life grabbing and grumbling, giving nothing to employer or public but what is specifically called for in the contract.

And there is where we make a serious mistake. Only as we give do we grow. Only as we lift others do we lift ourselves. Only as we bring joy into life do we live.

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN IS IN ORDER.

Spring is the natural time to get on the Sunday clothes. It is in the blood. We inherit it, all of us, from the maternal side of the house, we suppose, for since the dawn of time Spring has been that period of unrest and rug beating, beds covered with bric-a-brac and hair brushes, and all spots of refuge such as "comfy" chairs and including that same bed are shrouded in gloomily looking sheets that hide dangerous pitfalls for the tired husband, for if he attempts to sit down, like as not he'll smash his derby hat or a picture frame. But it can't be helped and the best way to bear it is to get in the game and get the agony over with.

While mother is tearing things to pieces in her resolute search for the shrinking cobweb and the grain of dust, is a good time for the man of the house to be limbering up his paint brush, sowing grass seed, nailing up the fence, burning the rubbish, etc.

The outdoor exercise will do you good if your occupation keeps you indoors and if it does not, well, you will be used to it anyway.

After all, our homes are all there is in this world for us. We work all day to get back to them at night and the wife has to stay there day and night, and the better and nicer the home is, the more real enjoyment we can get out of life. A good citizen does his level best to keep his house and yard a credit to his city.

A city "clean-up day" is the popular thing all over the country. It is getting to be about that time.

WHY NOT HOLD A REGATTA?

A week of boat races on Rock river at Dixon this summer would hold a great deal of interest for not only the residents of Dixon and vicinity, but for river sport enthusiasts all over this section of the country. They hold very successful ones in Burlington, Peoria, Oshkosh and many other cities, and they have no better waters for their activities than we have above the Dixon dam. There is a ten mile stretch between Dixon and the upper river where the entire river is of good depth and the places along the river for seeing the races are numerous and ideal. The Assembly park and Lowell park would both furnish perfect views of portions of the races and in fact the river bank on both sides for almost the entire distance is adaptable and there are certain spots where the crucial points in the races could be planned where the financial end of the undertaking could be cared for.

The interest that would be created in Dixon and the river would be of no inconsiderable value to the city from an advertising point: of view, and many of these things that make living in Dixon more worth while, that add to the pleasure in the lives of the citizens of this community, are desirable. This is a proposition that the men of Dixon who are interested in the river sports, motorboating, canoeing, etc., could put through.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE.

RETURNS FROM FUNERAL.

Oliver Smith of Loveland Place returned home Saturday from Lanesboro, Ia., where he was called by the death of his son-in-law, G. L. Giffs, aged 26 years. Mr. Giffs was the editor and publisher of the Lanesboro Topic and was postmaster. He died of typhoid pneumonia, and leaves a wife and family.

Tuesday

By WALT MASON

Oh, Tuesday is a large, fat day indorsed by pulpit and by press; a day on which to shoo away all mental colic and distress. On Tuesday hustling people thrive and see their bank accounts increased; we all are glad that we're alive when Tuesday's sun shines in the east. But Tuesday has no charm for men who play the old, sad loading game; who fain would own the potent even who will not work to get the same. You see that bunch in every town, the shiftless, lazy, frowzy ghosts; they're holding dry-goods boxes down or bracing poles and hitching posts. Fair Tuesday comes with noble gifts, but idlers have no show thereat; as on her shining way she drifts, she eyes the bunch and mutters "Scat!" Her gifts are for the hustling boys who hump themselves the whole day long, and in the evening find their joys at home, 'mid laughter, mirth and song. You could not ask a smoother day on which your labors to pursue, but if you'll fool the hours away, all days will look alike to you.

NOTICE OF AWARD OF CONTRACT

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN: That the Board of Local Improvements and Council of the City of Dixon, in the County of Lee and State of Illinois, at a regular meeting of said Board and Council held jointly at the Council room in the City Hall in said City of Dixon, at 11 o'clock a. m. on Monday, the 16th day of March, A. D. 1914, awarded a contract for furnishing all material, tools, machinery and labor for the construction of a vitrified brick or block pavement, cement concrete curbing and catch basins on North Galena Avenue from the north line of Fellows Street to the north line of the right of way of the Illinois Central Railroad Company in the City of Dixon, Illinois, as provided for in Local Improvement Ordinance Number 156, Series of 1913 to Rink & Schnell of Dixon, Illinois.

That said Rink & Schnell was considered by said Board to be the lowest responsible bidder, who submitted a proposal to furnish all material, tools, machinery and labor for the construction of said improvement.

That the price at which said Rink & Schnell was awarded said contract is approximate quantities:

370 linear feet of cement concrete at thirty (30) cents per linear foot.
6 catch basins of brick at twenty-eight (28) dollars each.
3 manhole covers adjusted to grade at one (1) dollar each.
7191 square yards of vitrified brick or block pavement with asphalt filler at one and sixty-four and one-half hundredths (1.645) dollars per square yard.

That said Board will on or after the 30th day of March, A. D. 1914, enter into a contract with said Rink & Schnell to furnish all tools, machinery, material and labor for said improvement, unless the requisite number of property owners or their agents, who shall take oath that they are such owners or agents shall within ten (10) days after the first publication of this notice enter into a written contract to do the whole of said work at ten (10) per centum less than the price at which the same has been awarded, and commence said work within thirty (30) days after such publication and prosecute the same with diligence.

Dated at Dixon, Illinois, this 17th day of March, A. D. 1914.

FUNERAL OF MRS' CASTLES TOMORROW

SERVICES WILL BE CONDUCTED BY REVS. W. F. SHAW AND FISHER.

The funeral of Mrs Joseph Castles, who passed away Monday afternoon, will be held at her late home, 1423 W. Third street, at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, Rev. William F. Shaw, an intimate friend of the deceased for many years, officiating. Rev. S. E. Fisher will assist in the service and interment will be near her farm home at Walnut on Thursday.

Miss Agnes Martin was born at Leepertown, Ill., Sept. 28, 1851, and at the time of her death was 62 years, 5 months and 18 days of age. She was the youngest of a family of six children born to Peter J. and Jane Martin, the only brother and three sisters having preceded her in death. The surviving sister is Mrs. Hannah M. Webb of Los Angeles, Cal.

On Oct. 29, 1871, the deceased was united in marriage to Joseph Castles at Walnut, Ill. They made their home there until seven years ago when they moved to Dixon. Nine children were born to this union, six of whom passed away in infancy. The three daughters, with the sorrowing husband, who survive to mourn her passing, are: Miss Gertrude, Dixon; Mrs. Ethel Trotter, Aurora, and Mrs. Cynthia Murphy, Rock Falls.

When about 17 years of age the deceased heard the call of her Master and became a member of the Christian church at Walnut. When she moved to Dixon she transferred her membership to the church of this city and at the time of her death was a member. During her days of health she was an active worker in the church and many friends will unite with the family in mourning her going and will tender sincerest sympathy to the bereaved ones.

MISS LENOX PROMOTED

Miss Minerva Lenox has been promoted by the management of the Jossard Corset company to the position of forewoman of the manufacturing department of the Dixon factory. Her many friends will congratulate her on her advancement.

HOUSE'S TRUST BILLS APPROVED

President Insists That Personal Guilt of Persons in Control Be Prescribed.

TO PERMIT STOCK HOLDINGS

Corporations to Be Barred From Owning Stock of Competitors, However—Would Affect Many Lines.

Washington, March 17.—At a conference with the house judiciary subcommittee on trusts President Wilson put the stamp of administration approval on the substance of the four bills to amend the anti-trust laws which the committee submitted in a practically final form.

President Wilson indicated this belief that it would be better to consolidate all the bills into one in order to expedite legislation.

For Personal Guilt.

The president made a number of suggestions to the subcommittee, which comprised Representatives Clayton, Alabama; Carlin, Virginia, and Floyd, Arkansas. He insisted that personal guilt of individuals in control of corporations should be prescribed in every bill in order to break up the evils that have resulted under the present anti-trust laws. The committee will revise the bills with this in view, and talk with the president again before submitting the measures to the full committee and to the house.

The draft of the holding corporations bill had been completed just before the conference. The measure would make unlawful those holding companies that combine the stock of corporations so as to lessen competition, but would not affect companies which hold the stock of corporations that form essential parts of their business. Holding companies that are entirely for investment and not for business directly are not prohibited. This would permit companies like the large insurance concerns to hold the stock of corporations which are not competitors.

The committeemen pointed out to the president that the bill would save to industrial business the investor who buys the stocks and bonds of various corporations, but is not engaged in the business of operating any of them. The bill applies to railroad-holding corporations, but not to subsidiaries, drawing the line at substantial competitors.

Affects Many Lines.

It includes cotton mills if made up of combined competitors; it would prohibit holding corporations of moving picture concerns, which sought exemption, and would strike at various large holding establishments which made pleas before the committee.

The so-called theater trust also would be affected. Theater corporations which hold two theaters in any one city, unless it could be proven they were absolutely non-competing, would be prohibited, but the bill would not destroy a chain of theaters in different cities in which there was no element of competition.

Labor Unions Not Exempt.

None of the four bills as now framed provides for exemption of labor unions from anti-trust prosecutions.

The trade relations bill prohibits manufacturers from contracting to prevent a merchant from handling a competitor's goods. It prohibits final price fixing to the consumer, though it permits the manufacturer or wholesaler to fix the price at which goods shall be sold in the first instance, as from manufacturer to jobber.

Under this restriction, the first sale of a manufactured article by its producer would be at the same price everywhere, plus the cost of transportation. This bill gives the right of injunction to individuals for threatened loss or damage and the right to make use of a government decree against any corporation.

The interlocking directorates bill includes a provision to prohibit directors in various corporations selling to companies in which they are directors.

NOTED ASTRONOMER IS DEAD

Dramatic Roles

FAMILY THEATRE

Two packed houses saw the Kathryn pictures and were fascinated by the hairbreadth encounters of the heroine with wild animals of the jungles, and her capture and escape from one tribe of natives to another. This fourth series will again be shown on Thursday night. Pictures tonight are: The Husband's Experience; The Smuggler's Daughter, The Patched Apron and Within the Hour.

AT OPERA HOUSE.

The Paulist Choristers, who come to Dixon Saturday afternoon and evening, give Dixon people an opportunity to hear a choir that has seldom, if ever, appeared in a city this size. It is a great privilege to be able to attend, and undoubtedly as many people as the opera house will hold will enjoy both performances. We cannot say too much in praise of this wonderful organization of singers, famed throughout the world as they are. Manager Baker is to be congratulated and complimented on his enterprise in securing this attraction for Dixon.

PRINCESS.

Tonight The Informer, an Irish drama in two reels, with scenes laid in Ireland and by the Domino Co., which originated the Harp of Tara, etc.

Wednesday night, The Heart of a Woman, in three reels, will be the feature. A picture full of pathos and brimming with excitement. The story of a woman in her life struggle of trials with a wonderful climax. Do not miss this excellent picture.

CHAPTER XII.

THE audience broke loose. It had already seen more than it had paid to see, for the great Jim Hanford, the world champion, had been knocked out. It was unofficial, but it had been with a single punch.

Never had there been such a night in fistiana. Glendon looked ruefully at his damaged knuckles, cast a glance through the ropes to where Hanford was groggily coming to and held up his hands.

He had clinched his right to be heard, and the audience grew still.

"When I began to fight," he said, "they called me 'One Punch Glendon.' You saw that punch a moment ago. I always had that punch. I went after my men and got them on the jump, though I was careful not to hit with all my might.

"Then I was educated. My manager told me it wasn't fair to the crowd. He advised me to make long fights so that the crowd could get a run for its money. I was a fool, a mutt. I was a green lad from the mountains. So help me God, I swallowed it as the truth.

"My manager used to talk over with me what round I would put my man out in. Then he tipped it off to the betting syndicate, and the betting syndicate went to it. Of course you paid.

"But I am glad for one thing. I never touched a cent of the money. They didn't dare offer it to me because they knew it would give the game away.

"You remember my fight with Nat Powers. I never knocked him out. I had got suspicious. So the gang framed it up with him. I didn't know. I intended to let him go a couple of rounds over the sixteenth. That last punch in the sixteenth didn't shake him. But he faked the knock out, just the same, and fooled all of you."

"How about tonight?" a voice called out. "Is it a frameup?"

"It is," was Glendon's answer. "How's the syndicate betting? That Cannam will last to the fourteenth."

Howls and hoots went up. For the last time Glendon held up his hand for silence.

"I'm almost done now. But I want to tell you one thing. The syndicate gets landed tonight. This is to be a square fight. Tom Cannam won't last till the fourteenth round. He won't last the first round."

Cannam sprang to his feet in his corner and cried out in a fury:

"You can't do it! The man don't live who can get me in one round!"

Glendon ignored him and went on.

"Once upon in my life I have struck with all my strength. You saw that a moment ago when I caught Hanford."

"Tonight, for the second time, I am going to hit with all my strength—that is, if Cannam doesn't jump through the ropes right now and get away. And now I'm ready."

He went to his corner and held out his hands for his gloves. In the opposite corner Cannam raged while his seconds tried vainly to calm him.

At last Billy Morgan managed to make the final announcement.

"This will be a forty-five round contest," he shouted. "Marquis of Queensbury rules! And may the best man win! Let her go!"

The gong struck. The two men advanced. Glendon's right hand was extended for the customary shake, but Cannam, with an angry toss of the head, refused to take it.

To the general surprise he did not rush. Angry though he was, he fought carefully, his touched pride impelling him to bend every effort to last out the round. Several times he struck, but he struck cautiously, never relaxing his defense.

Glendon hunted him about the ring, ever advancing with the remorseless tap-tap of his left foot. Yet he struck no blows nor attempted to strike. He even dropped his hands to his sides and hunted the other defenseless in an effort to draw him out.

Cannam grinned defiantly, but declined to take advantage of the proffered opening.

Two minutes passed, and then a change came over Glendon. By every muscle, by every line of his face, he advertised that the moment had come for him to get his man.

Acting it was, and it was well acted. He seemed to have become a thing of steel, as hard and pitiless as steel. The effect was apparent on Cannam, who redoubled his caution.

Glendon quickly worked into a corner and herded and held him there. Still he struck no blow nor attempted to strike, and the suspense on Cannam's part grew painful.

In vain he tried to work out of the corner, while he could not summon resolution to rush upon his opponent in an attempt to gain the respite of a clinch.

Then it came—a swift series of simple feints that were muscle flashes. Cannam was dazzled. So was the audience. No two of the onlookers could agree afterward as to what took place.

Cannam ducked one feint and at the same time threw up his face guard to meet another feint for his jaw. He also attempted to change position with his legs.

Kingside witnesses swore that they saw Glendon start the blow from his right hip and leap forward like a tiger to add the weight of his body to it. Be that as it may, the blow caught Cannam on the point of the chin at the moment of his shift of position.

And, like Hanford, he was unconscious in the air before he struck the ropes and fell through on the heads of the reporters.

Of what happened afterward that night in the Golden Gate arena columns in the newspapers were unable adequately to describe. The police kept the ring clear, but they could not save the arena.

It was not a riot; it was an orgy. Not a seat was left standing.

All over the great hall by main strength, crowding and jostling to lay hands on the beams and boards, the crowd uprooted and overturned.

Prizefighters sought protection of the police. But there were not enough police to escort them out, and fighters, managers and promoters were beaten and battered.

Jim Hanford alone was spared. His jaw, prodigiously swollen, earned him this mercy.

Outside, when finally driven from the building, the crowd felt upon a new $7,000 motorcar belonging to a well known fight promoter and reduced it to scrap iron and kindling wood.

Glendon, unable to dress amid the wreckage of dressing rooms, gained his automobile, still in his ring costume and wrapped in a bath robe, but failed to escape.

By weight of numbers the crowd caught and held his machine. The police were too busy to rescue him, and in the end a compromise was effected whereby the car was permitted to proceed at a walk, escorted by 5,000 cheering madmen.

It was midnight when this storm swept past Union square and down upon the St. Francis. Cries for a speech went up, and, though at the hotel entrance, Glendon was good naturedly restrained from escaping.

He even tried leaping out upon the heads of the enthusiasts, but his feet never touched the pavement. On heads and shoulders, clutched at and uplifted by every hand that could touch his body, he went back through the air to the machine.

The Car Was Permitted to Proceed.

Then he gave his speech, and Mand Glendon, looking down from an upper window at her young Harolds towering on the seat of the automobile, knew, as she always knew, that he meant it when he repeated that he had fought his last fight and retired from the ring forever.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live.

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."

Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WEST BROOKLYN NEWS

Special election, Tuesday, March 31st, 1914. This promises to be a very important contest and every voter, man or woman, should see that they cast their vote.

Faley Bresson was here calling on his many friends Friday.

Mrs. John Burns of Harmon visited recently in our city with her daughter, Celia Burns, who is teaching the Zinke school south of town.

C. C. Weber was here on business Friday morning.

The Foresters are already planning for their Easter ball. The committee in charge, is C. P. Henkel, George Gehant and Alex Jeanblanc. These gentlemen promise that nothing shall be spared to make the event one long to be remembered in the community.

John Mahaffey was a business visitor in this village Friday.

Edward Henry has sold a Ford auto to Harry Bauer of Compton. On Thursday Mr. Henry received another runabout which he is soon to deliver to one of his customers. He also has another carload of cars on the track, and is certain to be well stocked for the summer season when the demand for cars is always greater than the facilities for manufacturing them.

John Florschuetz of Welland was a visitor in this town Friday.

Mrs. Joseph Chaon, Sr., was able to leave the hospital Wednesday for the first time in eight weeks. She is staying with her son, Henry Chaon, and wife for the present, and will not return home till her strength has sufficiently returned. It is a source of much rejoicing upon the part of her many relatives and friends to know that she is improving.

William E. Bauer was in town the early part of the week transacting business.

Adam Bieschke has returned to his work at Arthur, Ia., and will remain for the season again. He enjoyed a very pleasant vacation at home this winter and in fact, does every winter that he returns.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Barlow expect to leave soon to move into their new residence in Amboy. We regret to lose them from our town but hope they will like Amboy and will return to visit us often.

Mrs. Mack July and son Edward were here Friday.

Lewis Henry of Pawpaw visited his parents and other relatives here Thursday.

S. J. Holdren was here Thursday on business.

Carpenters have been at work on the Anchtetter-Oester building to make room for the Harris restaurant to open soon. A set of new steps were added to the east approach on Friday.

Jos. Kuehna of Sublette was here Thursday.

We are glad to learn that Russell Craigmiles will return here after sojourning a year with the U. S. army at Honolulu. Mr. Craigmiles has completed his enlistment and will seek employment here. It will take him some time to reach West Brooklyn from the Hawaiian Islands as it is a long journey from here.

St. Mary's Court No. 1382 Catholic Order of Foresters held their regular monthly meeting in their club rooms Thursday night. A good attendance was present as well as Deputy High Chief Ranger Hoerner of Mendota. The Foresters will hold a big initiation at the Regiment armory in Chicago May 24 and many members of the local court expect to attend. There will be 2000 members initiated that afternoon and it will be one of the Foresters' biggest days. Beside attending to routine business the court started preparations for their annual Easter ball and the committee to take charge were named by the chief ranger.

Prof. Edw. Morrissey and his pupils wish us to express to those attending the entertainment Monday night at the Ford school their appreciation for their support. The results were very gratifying and a neat sum was realized for the school fund. The entertainment was well rendered. Some were present from Mr. Morrissey's home town of Harmon, some from Bradford, Wyoming and South Brooklyn. The school proved too small for the comfort of the crowd, but they enjoyed themselves immensely. "Uncle Dudley Edwards" auctioned the baskets and did a good job. Many from out of town were present and bid the boxes up to a high figure, to the pleasure of Prof. Morrissey.

Misses Kathryn Bernardin and Maree Gander entertained with a house party the following: Olive Rife, Agnes Flouy, Christina Bete, Kitty Smith, Dolly Dingler, Henry W. Gehant, Ed Colquist, Allen Selglinger, Hugh Jewitt and Fred Bete. Mr. and Mrs. Frances Ruth chaperoned the party and a very enjoyable time is reported.

Mesdames Andrew and Henry F. Gehant were called to Minonk Saturday by the illness of their brother, E. A. Pye.

L. F. Rees and brother were here from Steward in their new auto Friday.

Jacob Longbine was here Saturday on business.

Jack Cornshak and Will Wigum were in Mendota collecting taxes on Saturday.

A number of young men of this vicinity have been enjoying the good weather and roads with their motorcycles recently purchased of Barr & Johnson. The new firm has been doing a nice business and have sold eight machines. They have some new models and invite you to call and see them.

Don't Grow Bald

It's Quite Needless—Nourish the Hair Roots—Remove Dandruff

—Use Parisian Sage.

If your hair is getting thin, losing color, or has that matted, lifeless and scraggy appearance, the reason is evident—dandruff and failure to keep the hair roots properly nourished.

Parisian Sage applied frequently for a week and then occasionally is all that is needed. It removes dandruff with one application; almost immediately stops falling hair and itching head; cleanses, cools and invigorates the scalp and makes dull, stringy hair soft, abundant and radiant with life. Equally good for men, women or children—everyone needs it.

This refreshing hair tonic can be had at any drug or toilet counter in 50 cent bottles only. Rowland Bros. always sell with agreement to refund the money if you are not satisfied.

Get a bottle at once. Delighted users say Parisian Sage is the best and most invigorating hair tonic made.

Harry Christiance came down from Dixon Friday and spent the afternoon with old neighbors and friends.

We learn that much excitement is being caused by the approaching special election March 31st.

Henry Halboth and son William visited friends in this city Friday morning.

Rumor has it that a deal is on by which H. A. Bernardin will dispose of his branch store at Compton and will devote his entire time and energy to the local business. Mr. Bernardin has been in charge of the store at Compton for the past few years, his wife acting as manager at that store, but it has always been very inconvenient for the family to reside in West Brooklyn and make the trip back and forth each day. It means much to West Brooklyn to have Mr. Bernardin give his entire time to the building up of the local trade and we shall welcome any move on his part which will aid him in accomplishing his purpose.

John Erbes was here on business Friday afternoon.

For Sale. Eggs for hatching from prize winning White Wyandotte stock. Eggs from these same birds sold for $2.00 per fifteen last year, after winning several prizes at the Clarinda Iowa Fair. We have these same prize winners and also their full sisters in our yards. Score from 92 to 97. We offer bargain prices: 5c per egg. Lawn Ridge Poultry Yard, West Brooklyn, Ill.

George J. Thier was in town Friday delivering wheat to local poultry men for their stock feed. Wheat is one of the most essential feeds for poultry and its paying results are soon learned after but little experience.

John Untz Sr., was in town on business Thursday afternoon.

Barr's orchestra played for a dance at Scarboro Thursday evening.

Paul Halbmaier visited the business men of West Brooklyn Friday morning.

We are sorry to learn of the affliction of Modest Gehant who we are told suffered a slight paralytic stroke Tuesday night. At this writing he is resting easier and has excellent hopes for an early recovery.

The village authorities had the streets through town planked on Thursday, and they were greatly benefited thereby. The farmers coming to town find the roads in fair shape for this time of the year and say they are surprisingly dry.

We solicit your insurance business and shall endeavor to render perfect satisfaction to every customer. Now is the time of the year when every horse should be insured owing to the danger of starting the spring work. Protect them with live stock insurance. Henry F. LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN TYPE Humanity Answers to Environment, Irrespective of Blood or Other Causes of Racial Differences.

Prejudice should be omitted from the traveler's outfit, declares F. G. Allalo, in the Fortnightly Review. The tourist who leaves home in the assumption that every German is a fire-eater, every American a braggart, and every Italian a Lothario is sure to meet with awkward disappointments, and will certainly impair his own chances of getting the fullest enjoyment out of his experience. Generally speaking, so far, at any rate, as European nations are concerned, human nature is approximately homogeneous, and there is much to be said for Mr. Belloc's contention that the differences between the nations are grossly exaggerated, and that, in face of a common Mohammedan or Mongolian enemy, these differences would, as likely as not, altogether disappear. Travel teaches appreciation of another uniformity of type, and that is the likeness between hillmen, dalemen, coastmen, men of the plains and islanders all the world over.

Each type reflects its environment irrespective of political allegiance or religion. I do not here refer to the affinities between Welsh and Briton, or between the peasants of Andalusia and Morocco, for these are cases of blood relationship. The response to environment is illustrated rather by the close resemblance between the Moslem mountaineers of the Caucasus and Christian hillmen of the Alps, or between the mariners of half a dozen races bordering on the Mediterranean.

ONE THING THAT JOB MISSED

Man of Many Trials Was at Least Spared Experience That Befell Mr. Brown.

"The talk turned to expetitive eloquence at a recent smoketfest when Congressman George White of Ohio said that there are times when the lurid language of father might seem to be justified.

Some time ago a party named Brown bought an automobile, and, after taking a few lessons at the wheel and putting up the price of a license, he and wife whizzed forth to see the scenery.

Everything rattled on as beautifully as joy bells for about two miles, and then the machine stopped in the middle of the road. Whereat father hustled out to take a look, and, thinking he could fix things, he got down on his hands and knees and crawled under a second later there came a wild yelp from papa.

"Henry! Henry!" expostulated wife from her seat in the car. "Don't swear so! Why can't you be patient, like Job?"

Progress—at a Price.

"Who has not heard of the Vale of Kashmir?" musically inquires Tom Moore, implying that any one who ventures on a negative answer thereby stamps himself as a low-brow forever. Now, after a lapse of more than a hundred years, the United States consular service is repeating the query, though varying the spelling and intent.

Moore was thinking of temples, grottoes, fountains, moonlit nights and opportunities for lovemaking afforded by the famous valley. The consular service is thinking of wool, timber, waterpower and openings for American manufacturers.

Progress? Of course—but progress for which a price must be paid, and at times the price seems high. There are moments when the tourist wonders whether ancient castles or modern chimneys along the Rhine represent the more ruthless form of spoliation; and the query is even more pertinent when the factory system is suddenly introduced among submissive workers of the Orient.

Opposed to Knighthood.
Coke of Norfolk, who eventually went to the lords as Earl of Leicester, was furious when threatened with a knighthood, relates the London Chronicle. After an attack on the prince regent's life in 1817 Coke was chosen to present him with an address from the Norfolk whigs. They congratulated him heartily on his escape, but concluded by beseeching him to "dismiss those advisers who by their conduct had proved themselves alike enemies to the throne and people." On learning the terms of the proposed address, the regent, who knew that Coke valued his position as commoner above everything, declared, "If Coke enters my presence, I shall knight him." When this threat was reported to Coke he replied, "If he dare try to knight me, I swear I'll break his sword."

Point Well Taken.

A Devonshire lady once sent to her son a pair of trousers by book post, which is, of course, cheaper than parcel post.

The postal officials wrote to her: "Clothes cannot be sent by book post. If you will refer to the Post Office Guide you will see under what conditions articles may be sent by book post."

After a few days the lady replied: "I have looked in the Post Office Guide and find that articles which are open at both ends may be sent by book post. And if trousers are not open at both ends I should like to know what is."—London Mail.

BILLION LEFT IN YEAR

Demise of Vanderbilt and Others Breaks the Record.

Astor Estate Paid Largest Since Enactment of Inheritance Tax Law, Being $3,150,000.

New York, March 17.—With the death last week of George W. Vanderbilt, George Westinghouse and John L. Cadwalader officials of the state comptroller's office began a tabulation of the wealth left by the large number of prominent New York men who have died since January 1, 1913.

It is estimated that the total amount of wealth passed on to the next generation by the death of these men is more than one billion dollars.

For the year ending last September the total amount of revenue collected from the state inheritance tax amounted to $12,724,236. The amount to be collected from estates not yet appraised is believed to be much larger.

Never before have so many Americans of wealth and power died in such a short period. Included in the list are J. Pierpont Morgan, Anthony N. Brady, Benjamin Altman, Charles E. Appleby, George A. Hearn, Henry M. Flagler and Isaac V. Brokaw.

The value of the Brady estate is estimated at $75,000,000; of the Morgan estate, $65,000,000 in addition to works of art valued at $50,000,000, and George W. Vanderbilt is supposed to have left $50,000,000.

Other large estates settled or in process of settlement during 1913 included:

Benjamin Altman $30,000,000
George A. Hearn 10,000,000
Isaac V. Brokaw 5,000,000
Edwin Strauss 4,427,988
Henry M. Flagler 3,980,000
D. O. Mills 10,500,000
Edwin Hawley 2,740,000
James R. Keene 2,000,000

The largest inheritance tax paid since the enactment of the law was that of $3,150,000 on the $7,000,000 estate of the late Col. John Jacob Astor.

CHARGE BOTH WITH CRASH

U. S. Boat Inspectors Fail to Fix Blame for Coast Disaster.

Philadelphia, March 17.—The two United States local inspectors of steam vessels who investigated the disaster off the Virginia coast on January 30 in which the steamship Nantucket rammed the steamer Monroe, causing the loss of 41 lives, rendered a divided opinion. One held Capt. Osmyrn Berry of the Nantucket guilty of negligence and the other charged Capt. Edward E. Johnson, commander of the Monroe, with responsibility for the disaster. The case will go to Captain Zaley at New York, supervising inspector of the district.

Find Process to Make Milk.

London, March 17.—The Times describes the discovery in a London chemical laboratory of a process of manufacturing synthetically a pure wholesome milk of high nutritive value from a basis of casein obtained from the soya bean. Excellent cheese and butter, the Times says, have been made from this synthetic milk.

INCOME TAX LAW HIT

Auto Firm Contents Act Is Unfair and Starts Suit.

Detroit Concern Alleges That New Act Discriminates Against Partnerships.

Washington, March 17.—Suits attacking the constitutionality of the income tax law were filed in the district Supreme court here by John F.
and Horace B. Dodge of Detroit, Mich.,
automobile manufacturers. They contend that the law unduly discriminates against individuals and partnerships in favor of corporations in the laying of surtaxes and in permitting corporations to withhold from taxation such portions of income as may be necessary for the needs and purposes of their business. The latter privilege is not allowed to individuals, their bill says.

It is generally understood here that the case is a test suit in which the entire automobile industry is concerned.

The bill gives the taxable income of the two brothers for 1913 as $1,417.
572, on which the normal tax is $14.
175 and the surtax $65.148.

They contend that the law unduly discriminates in favor of corporations and against individuals and partnerships in three particulars:

1. In laying a surtax of from one to six per cent on the net income of individuals exceeding $20,000 and not on the net income of corporations exceeding $20,- 000.

2. In levying an additional surtax on the income in excess of $20,000 of an individual who holds stock in a corporation on "the share to which he would be entitled of the gains and profits permitted to accumulate for the purpose of preventing the imposition of such tax," thereby subjecting individual stockholders to a tax on corporate gains and profits which they may not receive and may never receive.

3. In permitting corporations and not individuals and partnerships to withhold from income taxation such portion of their gains and profits and net income as may be reasonably necessary for the needs and purposes of the business in which they are engaged.

It is also alleged that if the courts permit the collector of internal revenue to collect the normal tax and the surtax complained against by the Dodge Brothers, it will require more than twenty thousand separate suits to recover back the millions of unconstitutional income taxes collected under the law.

It is further contended that the procedure prescribed for the assessment is defective because it permits the levy to be made and the taxes collected without any notice to the persons and corporations and without giving them an opportunity to be heard, and this, it is said, is a deprivation of property without due process of law.

NOBEL PRIZE WINNER DIES

Dr. C. A. Gobat Stricken at Berne, Switzerland.

Berne, Switzerland, March 17.—Dr.
Charles Albert Gobat, who in 1902 divided the Nobel peace prize with E.
Boccommun, another Swiss, died of apoplexy here while presiding over a peace conference.

Doctor Gobat was president of the international peace bureau and administrator of the interparliamentary union. He attended the interparla-mentary conference at St. Louis in October, 1904.

Doctor Gobat belonged to many scientific societies, but devoted himself to international peace. In October, 1904, he sent a formal request to the United States to intervene in the Russo-Japanese war.

President's Wife Operated On.
Washington, March 17.—It was learned that the illness which has kept Mrs. Wilson confined to her room for the last three weeks, while originally occasioned by a fall over a rug was later due to the effect of a slight operation.
